MEETS DEATH BY KICK FROM HORSE

Edward Markt Is Kicked To Death While Plowing

In the best of health; happy, prosperous, and contented; surrounded by a wife and joyous little family of children, there was every reason why Edward Markt should have been spared to his family—but the ways of Providence are at times beyond our understanding, and surely the untimely death of this splendid young citizen is one of those strange, and unaccountable decrees of Providence.

Mr. Markt was doing his fall plowing, and was using three horses to his walking plow. He had been in for dinner, and returned to his work following his meal.

About 3:30 o'clock, one of his horses came to the barn lot, without harness, save that of his collar. Fred Kurtz noticed the animal, and supposed that he had released the horse and sent it home for the purpose of hauling straw. He took the collar off, and let the animal go to the pasture, and then he returned home.

The afternoon passed, and it becoming late, and her husband failing to return, Mrs. Markt not being at home when the horse came in, she went to the phone and called up a neighbor, James Ramsay, telling him about Mr. Markt's failure to come in from work and asked him if he would not go out to the field and ascertain, if possible, the cause of his not returning.

The field in which he was plowing is about three-fourths of a mile from his home. Mr. Ramsay in answer to the request, went out to this field, and in due time reached the place, and to his horror found Mr. Markt lying in the meadow, near the plowed ground, and in an unconscious condition. Mr. Ramsay at once went to a neighbor, Mr. George Webster, and told him of the accident, and he then went with the sad news to the wife.

Dr. Proud was at once called, and Mr. Ramsay returned to the field, where several neighbors had gathered having been called by phone, Mrs. Ramsay calling them up. On arrival of Dr. Proud, he summoned Dr. Kearney, of New Point, to his aid, and they went to the field and made examination, and found at once that he was beyond relief, and within half an hour he was dead, dying in the field.

The examination developed the fact that Mr. Markt had been kicked by one of the horses, being struck just behind the left ear, crushing the skull to a pulp; his left shoulder showing some bruises.

No one can tell the story—The only and seemingly correct theory is, that on his return to the field from dinner, he proceeded to hitch up his horses to the plow, and had made one round with the plow, and had started on the second, when the team became entangled, and while in his endeavor to straighten them out received the blow that killed; he had gone on his second round about 20 yards, and the plow and the remaining two horses were found about 65 or 70 yards north-east of where Mr. Markt was found, the horses and plow uninjured. The gray mare that remained in the field had stripped herself of her harness—from the appearance of the ground indications were that they had been doing some lunging.

Mr. Ramsay, on going into the field, saw the horses standing by the plow, and he felt a sense of fear that an accident had occurred, as he went on toward the horses. He heard the groans of Mr. Markt, and this groaning led him up to the man, whom he found lying on his back. He spoke to him, but soon found he was unconscious.

Thursday morning Justice A. E. Hibbard summoned F. O. Burger, O. D. G. Gelvin and Jas. E. Ramsay, who had viewed the body and the ground where the accident had occurred, and together with a statement of the physicians, came to the opinion that an inquest was unnecessary, as the deceased had undoubtedly come to his death as above stated.

The deceased was about 36 years of age, and is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Markt, of this city, and he leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters, and several brothers and sisters. An obituary we hope to publish in our next issue.

The funeral will be held from the Presbyterian church in this city on this Friday morning at 11 a. m., the funeral cortege will leave the home at 10 a. m.

Bigelow.

—Al G. Stanley went to Mound City, Saturday.

—G. M. Larrabee and wife drove to the river, Sunday.

—Sam Kahn and wife have returned from Colorado.

—Dr. Joe Hogan visited his brother, Dr. F. E. Hogan, last week.

—Eugene Hancher, of St. Joseph, spent Sunday here, as usual.

—Wm. Wilson and wife spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Lease.

—A few from here attended the ditch meeting at Craig, Saturday.

—Jennie E. Basinger and Edna E. McKee were Mound City visitors, one day last week.

—Ex-mayor J. B. Bridgeman was buying apples in Northern Nebraska, last week. This week he is near the central part.

—J. F. Bridgeman and son, Tom, Fred Gresham and Joe Catron, were in St. Joseph, last week, attending the live stock and horse show.

—Sunday next, Class 5, of the U. S. S., will elect a teacher. The one selected, last Sunday, will not perform his duty. We hope for a good teacher.

—The Bigelow barn has been decidedly improved by the erection of a gasoline engine, which pumps water, and also washes the horses and the buggies. We're for you, Shep.

—Miss Josephine Wilson and Miss Ralston were walking out the west road, Sunday. It seems that with the number of charming young men Bigelow possesses, the young ladies would not have to walk alone.

ROVER.

—Mrs. Setta Philbrick has returned home from St. Joseph.

—Mrs. Gresham, of near Big Lake, is visiting relatives in Nebraska.

Lost—White dog, yellow spotted. Call S. G. Kieffer, Forbes. Both phones.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

—Mrs. Keeses is improving.

—Joe Murray and family are with us again.

—The Methodist people worshiped with us Sunday. We enjoyed their visit.

—It is a pleasure to have the senior editor of THE SENTINEL with us occasionally.

—The notes were omitted last week, because Mr. Walton was away at Presbytery.

—Miss Lillian Price, our former president, has been ill. We extend our sympathy.

—Rev. A. D. Seelig and wife are spending their vacation with Father and Mother Cummins.

—Several strangers were in the congregation Sunday. We are always glad to welcome strangers.

—C. E. was full and interesting Sunday evening, James Murray led. Mrs. Seelig made a good talk.

—Services next Sunday morning. Subject: "How a Revival of Religion May Be Brought About."

—Mrs. Knowles and daughter, Miss Kate, worshiped with us Sunday. Their many Oregon friends are always glad to see them.

—Mr. Walton is holding services, this week, at Woodville. The interest is good. Several of the younger members of Woodville congregation called at the Manse last Saturday and left many pleasant tokens of their love and loyalty to the pastor and family. We thank you heartily.

THE PASTOR.

—Our Wool Nap Blankets are fooling the people every day. They look just like the $15.00, pure wool kind. Come in and see if you can tell the difference.

KREEK & HASNESS.

—Mrs. Jas. S. Coe was pleasantly surprised, Wednesday of this week, by a few of her more intimate friends, the occasion being Mr. and Mrs. Coe's 20th wedding anniversary. A very pleasant evening was spent.

—There will be a ball game at Big Lake, Sunday afternoon, October 3d, between the Falls City team and the Sand Toads. The game will be played at John Iden's park and will be well worth seeing. Remember the date, Sunday next, October 3d.

—While our church is being remodeled, we will hold services at the court house—preaching service at the regular time, 2nd and 4th Sunday, Sunday school at 9:30. Let everyone be on time next Sunday and start our work well in our new meeting place.

B. H. DAWSON.

A Union Meeting.

The members of the Christian Sunday school and church, secured a special train Sunday last and went down to Forest City and took part in the Sunday exercises with the members of that church, taking their luncheon with them and enjoying a union, basket meeting. It was a great meeting and helpful in many ways. Rev. Dickson is holding a series of meetings for the Forest City church and much interest is being manifested.

The Sunday school exercises were conducted by Earl Wilson, superintendent of the Forest City school, and Perry Brooks, superintendent of the Oregon school, over 200 participating in the exercises. The song services at both Sunday school and preaching were especially strong and were strengthened by Miss Ethel Murray and Miss France at the piano, and base, tenor, cornet and violin. The services were conducted in the city hall, and at the dinner hour, dinner was served in the shaded yard just west of the hall. The Oregon delegation was met at the dept by the Forest City school and acted as escort to the place of worship. A very interesting feature was the interest shown in the general discussion of the "World's Temperance lesson, and the concert recitation of the 23d Psalm by eight little tots.
